

Meeting the challenge—delivering design-build success

Our projects—like the Stamford Solids Dryer Facility in Connecticut and the Golden Ears Bridge in Vancouver—demonstrate our full-service, innovative design-build capabilities.

CH2M HILL's single-source, integrated design and construction project delivery services are transforming the world. We meet our water and transportation clients' highest expectations while improving quality of life for communities around the globe—and providing the cost and time savings and convenience of design-build delivery.

As a global leader in engineering, procurement, construction, and operations, CH2M HILL's people, long-term stability, record of quality performance, and technical innovation make our firm an ideal partner on your next design-build project.
