

“The U.S. General Services Administration is
counting on us
to deliver

the new Census Bureau Headquarters for the 2010 decennial Census. Our world-class team and partners are making it happen.”

Jim Whitaker, Vice President of Operations, Skanska USA Building Inc.

For construction veteran and architect Jim Whitaker, the new U.S. Census Bureau headquarters is a once in a lifetime experience. Skanska implemented a hyper-track program for the GSA reducing one year off delivery time. The superior performance and dedication of more than 800 onsite professionals is why this design-build, trophy project is being delivered just-in-time for the 2010 decennial Census. Skanska also doubled its apprenticeship goal by hiring talent directly from the local community, including an MWDBE outreach program. When the counting had to be done, the Census Bureau counted on us.
