Our Practice Is Building

We maintain a broad construction practice that provides legal representation and risk management counseling to companies at all stages of the construction process. Our construction attorneys assist clients with issues that arise in the negotiation, performance, and resolution of disputes involving commercial and government construction contracts. Many of the largest and most successful contractors, design professionals, design-builders, subcontractors, and public and private owners regularly rely on our legal advice in conducting their business. We would welcome the opportunity to discuss how Seyfarth Shaw can help your company succeed as well.
